

Dosing Pump Skid

Various Locations

ADM provided turnkey design and build services for custom control dosing skids.

Our client's goal was to provide an automated and controllable means to control the color of french fries of varying species and age during manufacturing.

The initial process design concept was provided by the client. ADM provided conceptual, preliminary and detailed mechanical, electrical, instrumentation and controls design services for the development and implementation of the process.

